

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN
COLLEGE of LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and the ARTS (LSA)

PROFILE -Last updated 12/9/2005

LSA is an extraordinary center of creativity, inquiry, and discovery. LSA offers more than 3,500 courses. Over 1,000 faculty – experts in anthropology through zoology – teach courses that explore the world's cultural, social, and scientific big questions. LSA's top research laboratories put faculty and students at the forefront of discoveries in life sciences, physics, and astronomy. A vibrant literary and performing arts tradition in the College enriches the minds and hearts of the campus community. All that a college experience should be – the intellectual challenges, the exposure to the new, the growth of knowledge and of individuals – can be found here, in the College of LSA.

UM was tied (with UCLA) for 25th place in "Overall Undergraduate Program-National" and for 3rd in "Overall Undergraduate Program-Public" in the 2006 Edition of US News & World Report, America's Best Colleges.

According to rankings issued by both U.S. News & World Report and the National Research Council, LSA has 71 departments, programs, and fields of study within departments and programs in the top 25 in the nation, including 47 in the top 10, and 26 in the top five. In addition, work centered in LSA has been ranked among the best in the nation for "First Year Experiences, Undergraduate Research /Creative Projects (UROP), Undergraduate Learning/Living Communities, Service Learning, and Writing across the Disciplines."

A report issued by a prominent team of higher education researchers also recently ranked U-M as among 20 colleges exceptional for their efforts to "add value by creating a campus culture that fosters student success." In addition, the editors of Washington Monthly magazine recently ranked U-M #10 among colleges known for "their success as an engine of social mobility, their ability to produce graduates and research that advance knowledge and drive economic growth, and for inculcating and encouraging an ethic of service."

2005 Profile: UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

(Source: U-M Marketing Communications, www.mc.umich.edu, October 2005)

BRIEF HISTORY

- In 1817, the University of Michigan was established in Detroit and became the first public university in the Northwest Territories. A grant of 1,920 acres from three Great Lakes Indian nations was earmarked for the nascent institution. In 1837, the same year in which Michigan became a state, the University relocated to take advantage of an offer by local entrepreneurs of 40 acres of land at the edge of town. The acreage ceded by the Indians was sold, and the proceeds remain part of the University's permanent endowment.
- The University of Michigan–Flint opened in 1956 with a gift from the Mott Foundation. The University of Michigan–Dearborn followed in 1958 on the land of the Henry Ford Estate, a gift of the Ford Motor Company.

ECONOMIC IMPACT OF THE UNIVERSITY

The University, with campuses in Ann Arbor, Flint, and Dearborn, makes significant economic contributions to the State of Michigan. Direct contributions include revenue dollars that flow into the University, as well as goods and services purchased by the University, its employees, students, and visitors. At the Ann Arbor campus, the U-M employs approximately 35,000 people (about 22,000 Washtenaw County residents), with a total payroll and benefits of over $2 billion. Student retail spending is estimated at more than $300 million per year. Each home football game generates an estimated $6-8 million for the local economy, and cultural activities attract more than 350,000 attendees each year.

ENDOWMENT AND BOND RATING

The University of Michigan Endowment Fund was valued at $4.2 billion on June 30, 2004.

The University's endowment was ranked 11th in size among 717 institutions and 4th among 230 public institutions. The U-M's bond rating with Moody's Investors Service, Inc. is Aaa and with Standard & Poor's Ratings Services, AAA.

UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT

The Michigan Difference campaign has had an outstanding year since its public kickoff in May 2004. All schools, colleges, and units on the Ann Arbor, Dearborn, and Flint campuses are working to raise a total of $2.5 billion by December 2008 to support students, faculty, programs, and facilities.

GIFTS TO THE UNIVERSITY

In the fiscal year that ended on June 30, 2004, 111,237 generous donors made gifts totaling $211,610,235, an increase of almost 15% from the previous year. Individual donors contributed $141,107,545, an increase of 18% while corporations and foundation giving increased 10% to $70,502,690. The University is right on target for reaching its ambitious goal.
